

Practice software that's all about people?

That's what our clients are telling us. In a recent independent survey of APS clients, almost 80% of participants rated our people as superior to those of their previous practice software supplier. Because at APS we're as much about people as we are about software. It's the exceptional relationships we hold with our clients that enable us to configure our exceptional software in the practice environment. And that makes both our team and our software fully accountable.

So if you would like to talk to a software supplier who really understands your business why not call us now on 02 9965 1300 and get the conversation started.
www.aps-advance.com

Accountable Technology

a Reckon company